Eighteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Take care to guard against all greed, for though one
may be rich, one's life does not consist of possessions.

A message from our Pastor

Can you believe that it is already July 31st? It seems hard to believe that in just a few weeks, kids will be getting ready to start a new school year. Whether they are off to college, high school, grade school or pre-school, a shift in thinking happens at the end of July and the beginning of August as we realize how precious the lazy days of summer are to us. Even the days seem to be getting shorter already.

Have you done everything you wanted to do this summer? Did you take some time off? Did you read that book that has been on your list for a while? Did you do something fun with your kids or grandkids just because? Did you visit with a friend in person or via a nice long phone call – not a few text messages back and forth or a post on Facebook? Did you just go sit outside one evening and watch fireflies? Have you talked to God?

Time is truly one of our most precious commodities. When we talk about stewardship, it often takes on the meaning of money and/or possessions, but as we hear in today's gospel, those are not the things that make our lives rich. Are we rich in what matters to God? Do we know what matters to God?

How we spend our allotted time matters. There is a mindfulness and an awareness that we should have as we go through our days and nights. This is not easy to do, especially in the fast paced, plugged-in lives that so many of us lead. It seems that we must always be “doing” but as we heard two weeks ago in Luke's gospel, that is not always what God wants. Yes, it is important to do, but we also need to take and make the time to sit and listen, to be present and thankful for the abundance of blessings God gives to each one of us every day.

Try to use these next last few weeks of summer to train your mind and heart to be more present. Do not pass time, live time instead, and be thankful for that time; using it wisely is one of the greatest gifts you can give back to the one who gave it to you.

Speaking of things to do – mark your calendars now for our first ever St. Paul VI Parish Block Party that will take place on the Mater Christi campus, Sunday, August 28th. It will be a wonderful way for us to celebrate the end of summer and to get together with friends and neighbors as a family of faith.

Please continue to keep me and our group in your prayers as we continue to see the beautiful sights of Germany. Know that I am keeping you all in my prayers as well.

Fr. Tom May, Pastor

THE CENTER OF A MEANINGFUL LIFE

Today's readings invite us to reflect upon some of life's deepest questions, and to explore the meaning of faith. We hear of the universal human search for meaning in our lives in the book of Ecclesiastes. In Luke's Gospel, we hear Jesus' parable about one who foolishly seeks ultimate security through the accumulation of wealth. In Colossians, faith in the crucified and resurrected Christ is proclaimed as the path to a richly purposeful and meaningful life. The path of Christian faith places our work, our sufferings, and our limitations within the larger picture of God's purposes for all of us. In Jesus, God is revealed as our companion in human suffering and limitation. God's love is at the center of a meaningful life. We place our trust in this loving God, who created us to share in this love, and to share this love with others.

A message from our Associate Pastor

During his three years of earthly ministry, Jesus often stayed at the home of Mary, Martha, and Lazarus. They were some of his most intimate friends and were also his devoted disciples. On July 29th this past Friday we celebrated the Memorial of Saints Martha, Mary, and Lazarus. Philip Kosloski of Aleteia has an interesting legend about St. Martha's life after Bethany.

Nothing is mentioned about them in the Bible after Jesus' ascension into heaven, but local legends reveal some interesting stories.

While the Eastern Orthodox claim that Martha and Lazarus ended up in Cyprus, Latin traditions claim they went to France with Mary Magdalene.

Once there, Martha was immediately sought after for her association with Jesus. According to tradition, she performed many miraculous feats, including the slaying of a dragon along the Rhone River. The Golden Legend provides all the details.

At that time, in the forest along the Rhone between Aries and Avignon, there was a dragon that was half animal and half fish, larger than an ox, longer than a horse, with teeth as sharp as horns and a pair of bucklers on either side of his body. This beast lurked in the river, killing all those who tried to sail by and sinking their vessels ... The people asked Martha for help, and she went after the dragon. She found him in the forest in the act of devouring a man, sprinkled him with blessed water, and had a cross held up in front of him. The brute was subdued at once and stood still like a sheep while Martha tied him up with her girdle, and the people killed him then and there with stones and lances.

While this may seem like a bizarre story that is the product of medieval mythology, there is a distinct possibility that St. Martha (or some other saint) did in fact discover a stray crocodile. The description of a scaly beast who lives both in the water and on land appears to fit the description perfectly. It's possible that someone was transporting a crocodile to a Roman amphitheater, and it somehow escaped the boat, finding refuge in the marshland around the Rhone river.

Whenever a saint (such as St. George) is credited with slaying a dragon, crocodiles appear to be the most likely candidate (or an ancient dinosaur, whichever one you prefer).

With this in mind, imagine sweet Martha, who ministered to Jesus, wrestling a crocodile and tying it up with her girdle!

It certainly gives you a new perspective on this biblical character if any of the stories are true!

MISSION APPEAL FOR THE ARCHDIOCESE OF DELHI

Origin and History of the Archdiocese of Delhi.

The Archdiocese of Delhi, once part of, the Archdiocese of Agra, later the “Archdiocese of Delhi-Shimla” in 1937, was erected as a separate “Archdiocese of Delhi” in 1959 with ten parishes spread over an area of 11,991 sq. km. Being the capital of India, which has 1/6 of the population of the world, it has grown rapidly over the years, due to various factors like immigration, urbanization, technology, education, commerce, etc. At present, the Archdiocese comprises of the Union Territory Delhi and most part of the state of Haryana. It has 70,750 Latin Catholics, living in 64 parishes and four mission stations. The Archdiocese has three bishops, 138 priests, 548 religious sisters, and 47 seminarians. There are 44,518,768 non-Christians here: Hindus, Buddhists, Jains, Sikhs, Parsis, etc. Delhi has become the home of diverse religions and sects.

The Challenges are diverse

1. To serve as a role model of faith and evangelization in India, being the largest democracy in the world.
2. To serve the teeming millions of immigrants from around the country and abroad.
3. To sustain the faith of the Catholics, buffed by the insurmountable challenges, due to religious intolerance.
4. To uphold moral and religious standards to the nation, Delhi being the national capital.

Some of the most urgent missionary needs are: -

1. The Archdiocese has been devastated by the two waves of Covid-19 and a countless number of parents have died, turning the care of their children to the elderly, sick, and poor grandparents. The Archdiocese has to cater to the needs of thousands of families which have been severely impacted by the pandemic by providing education for children and other provisions of food, clothing, and shelter for thousands of such families.
2. The parish of St. Monica, Burari needs a new parish church, since it is growing with a great influx of immigrants from the neighboring States of Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh, and Assam. Most Catholics here are tribals. The big obstacle to the growth of the church is the lack of a proper church building, conducive to faith and divine worship, in a metropolis where the contrast is now intimidatingly stifling the faith of Catholics.
3. St. Bartholomew's parish Jasana, inaugurated in 2019, has grown largely due to the inner mobility of Catholics, in search of jobs, affordable houses, and availability of residential houses. The faithful have no church as yet for regular and proper Sunday worship and cannot afford to build one for themselves. Presently Sunday Mass is celebrated in a small house.
4. The mission at Rewari, started in 1864, was made a parish in 1948 but without a rectory. The pastors of this parish have suffered a lot due to lack of residence for many years, affecting pastoral efficiency.

Bountiful baby drive

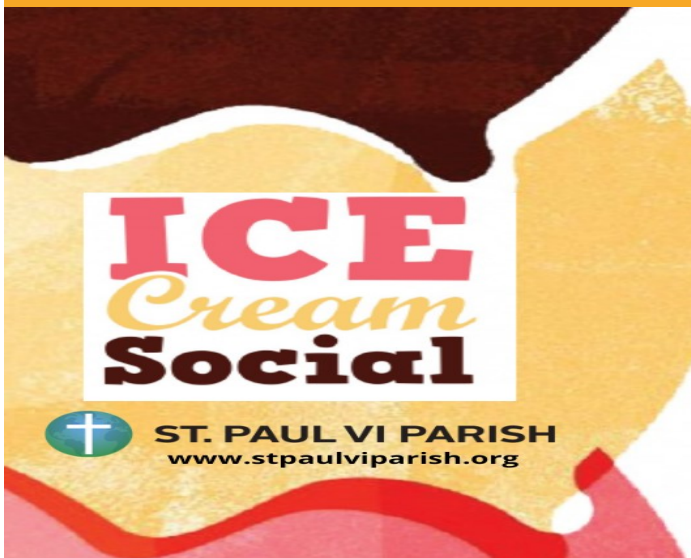

Throughout May, St. Paul VI parishioners generously responded to the Women's Society's baby item drive for the Women's Care Center of LaGrange. The society thanks everyone for the hundreds of new items donated at the dropoff sites at St. Mary, Mater Christi, and the Lyne Center!

The center provides free, confidential counseling for pregnant women. Expectant parents who attend the center's parenting classes receive coupons for new baby items in the Crib Club room.

Shown dropping off the donations are Linda Johnson, chairwoman of the society's Respect Life Committee, and Carol Dvorak, society co-president. Jane Morin, at right, is director of the center, and later wrote: "We want to thank you for your incredibly generous donation of baby items, gift cards, and monetary donations to our center. Each and every one of these items will be such a blessing to the women and babies we serve. ... May God bless you all, and again, thank you for your kindness."
